CLASS IN SESSION: Teachers getting hands-on training in database management

■ FIFTY-SEVEN teachers of information and communications technology from secondary schools in Petaling district recently attended a three-day crash course in database management at the School of Information Technology, Telecommunications and Multimedia (SITM), Sunway College.

Organised by SITM's training and development department, the workshop was aimed at helping teachers manage their schools' database.

Among others, teachers were taught to create, monitor and update student records.
