SEVENTEEN-year-old Lim Huay Yin was the proudest among the 178 students who received their matriculation certificates at Sunway College’s Australian Matriculation (AusMat) 2001 Awards Night recently.

Lim, who bagged subject awards for Economics, Accounting and Applicable Maths, also won the Best Overall award — the Principal Shield — for outstanding performances in academic and extra-curricular activities.

She received the award, one of 13 given away at the ceremony, from Sunway College principal Elizabeth Lee.

The award for Best Academic Excellence was presented to Koay Yi Chuan, who bagged subject awards for Physics, Calculus and Chemistry.

Lee said Sunway College has over the years produced outstanding students who have excelled in wide-ranging areas of studies.

“We have done our best to make the environment conducive not only for achieving success but also for them to meet the many challenges with confidence. “In their pursuit of higher education they need to be all round individuals, a trait they bring into the corporate world when they start work,” she added.

At the ceremony, a charity pledge of RM1,200 was made to Shelter Home for Children in Petaling Jaya.

The donation was derived from an accumulation of funds from the annual Australian Matriculation I CARE DAY charity drive.

Sunway College, staffed by a caring team of experienced professionals, offers an academic block housing classrooms, lecture theatres, comprehensive first-class science and computer laboratories and a language lab.

The College’s pride and joy is the Tun Hussein Onn Library which is a fully integrated library complete with a Multimedia Resource Centre plus Internet access and CD-ROM facilities.
