In situ learning

A three-day educational visit to Sibu Island was recently organised for a group of students from Sunway College’s School of Hospitality and Tourism Management. Upon arrival, the group of 36 students and lecturers were personally welcomed by Twin Beach Resort’s resident manager Hani Adi.

The main focus of the trip is to study the development of tourism in the island and its link to the islanders’ culture.

The trip will help instill awareness among the students of the importance of nature and the environment. Participating students are obliged to complete an in-depth report of the trip as part of their course.