Sunway and VicUni enhance partnership

SUNWAY College and Victoria University of Technology (VicUni) in Melbourne, Australia, recently signed a two-tier agreement to upgrade their five-year twinning partnership.

The new arrangements will focus on giving students hands-on business experience and to offer them in-depth academic knowledge of the corporate world.

The agreement was signed by college principal Elizabeth Lee and VicUni's dean of Engineering and Science, Professor Albert McGill. Sunway's executive director Tan Sri R.V.

Navaratnam and Australia's Department of Education, Training and Youth Affairs Stephen Sedgwick witnessed the signing.

McGill said Sunway students had achieved a remarkable 95 per cent pass rate in the Macroeconomic Principles paper in their second semester exam.

He also commended the college for its excellent facilities which he said contributed to the high success rate.

McGill added that frequent visits by VicUni lecturers had also contributed to the success.
